INCOME TAX MOVES AHEAD

...Bill Survives Kill Vote, 27-21; Exemptions Liberalized

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The proposed flat-rate state income tax bill leaped its second major legislative floor barrier Monday, and headed down the home stretch toward final reading.

The measure, LB797, survived its second kill motion on a 21-27 count, then cleared select file on a voice vote.

Only Sen. William Wylie of Elgin changed his position from the first floor test 18 days ago, when the bill had beaten off a kill motion on general file by a 20-29 count.

Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte, who had voted not to kill three weeks ago, was absent and not voting.

25 Votes Needed

When the measure shows up on final reading, 25 votes will be required to enact the bill and move it to the governor's desk. Gov. Frank Morrison has indicated that he would allow it to become law without his signature.

One major change was written into the bill Monday, an amendment adopting liberalized Internal Revenue Service exemptions and deductions for individual taxpayers.

The amendment, proposed by Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, would boost exemptions for dependents from $300 to $600 each and permit base deductions for charitable contributions, medical expenses, interest payments and taxes.

It was adopted on a 27-18 vote, after Sen. Hal Bauer of Lincoln—chief sponsor of the bill—changed his vote and accepted the amendment "in a compromise effort to get this bill passed."

Lawmakers tentatively adopted on a 29-17 count Sen. Kenneth Bowen's proposal to place a 2.5% limit on the income levy, then reconsidered and kayoed the amendment on an 18-27 vote.

The Bowen proposal provided that the governor would determine which state agencies would be underfunded if revenue from the 2.5% maximum rate was not sufficient to meet anticipated property levies (including county institutional levies) has been tagged at about 2.5%.

Bauer, Sen. Terry Carpenter and others argued that the delegation of appropriations authority to the governor would boost the necessary tax rate be unconstitutional.

Carpenter offered the kill motion (as he did on general file), but said he is content to see the bill passed, then submitted to a referendum vote of the people in 1966.

Following floor action, Bauer said the Burbach amendment "probably strengthened the bill" in terms of a referendum contest, and he remains satisfied with the contents of the measure.

Practical effect of the amendment will be to reduce progressive rate features of the taxable base and thus the federal income tax, but was turned down on a 19-28 vote.

The Carpenter amendment would have provided that a flat rate be applied against the dollars each individual and corporation pays in federal income tax, thus automatically incorporating the progressive features of the federal levy.

The state rate probably would have hovered between seven per cent and 10%, the Scottsbluff lawmaker estimated.

But proponents of LB797 argued that such an amendment would have destroyed the bill's present effort to utilize a flat rate to produce the impact of a sales and income tax.

In Doubt
Despite the fact that only one senator changed position Monday, the 4½-hour debate produced plenty of evidence of the income tax proposal will remain in doubt until the final vote.

Sen. Frank Nelson of O'Neill, who voted not to kill, said the Burbach amendment "destroyed the value of the bill very much" and the margin of his decision would continue to be narrow.

Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice, who also voted not to kill, said removal of the state from the property tax field "would in time lead to disaster." He proposed revision of the constitutional prohibition which now requires retirement from the property tax field.

On the other side, Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln—who voted to kill—said during debate on the Burbach amendment that "if it carries, I'm about to change."

Bowen proposed the 2.5% limit, he said, to "clear up misunderstandings" about the size of the rate, and to "quiet the fears of taxpayers."

Failed

Burbach failed on a 15-28 vote to boost the Bowen proposal to 3.25%.

Bauer said a limit might be "good politics, but it is bad legislation" and "misleading" to taxpayers.

Other amendments adopted:—removing provisions requiring reporting by taxpay-

SPACEMEN TIRED, HAPPY

Space Twins Splash Down After Setting 2 U.S. Records

... RED CARPET, PRESIDENT GREET THEM

Houston (P)—Hot, hungry and happy, Gemini astronauts James McDivitt and Edward White plummeted home from space Monday to a red carpet welcome and presidential congratulations—safe after a 4-day orbital marathon and a 20-minute walk in space.

Before they were on earth four hours, they had an invitation from President Johnson to visit him at his ranch in Texas Friday or Saturday. Could they accept?

"I don't think there'll be any trouble at all," answered McDivitt.

In Good Humor

Bearded and sporting the good humor that relieved their difficult hours in space, the two astronauts splashed down in the Atlantic at 11:13 a.m. CST.

Space-walker White became seasick in the bobbing spacecraft and vomited a little. The helicopter crew that picked them up said the astronauts had washed themselves off with salt water.

Within the hour, they were faced with a wild welcome on the aircraft carrier Wasp—the prime recovery ship—walking a red carpet and going below decks to the sick bay for physical examinations.

McDivitt Knew

"I knew we'd end up in a hospital," cracked command pilot McDivitt.

After several hours of medical examinations the astronauts shaved, showered and had dinner with Rear Adm. William W. M. McCormick and his staff. Their first full meal in a million and a half miles included steak smothered in onions and mushrooms and ended with lemon chiffon pie.

In the White House conversation, Johnson told the astronauts aboard the carrier:

"We're all in this country very proud of you and I think the entire world is grateful for what you've done and for your safe return."

McDivitt Beard Champ

While the doctors examined them, McDivitt and White drank water and grapefruit juice. Then at one point light-haired Ed White yelled to dark-haired McDivitt:

"Hey Jim, if this is a beard-growing contest, you win."

McDivitt had the heavier beard. His hair is darker than White's. Their faces were drawn and they looked tired, but both were smiling. Still in their white spacesuits, they perspired in the hot sun.

Astronauts' Wives Find Trip 'Great'

Houston, Tex. (P)—Breathless and shaking with excitement, Mrs. James McDivitt and Mrs. Edward White sparkled with elation at the storybook end of their husbands' four days in space.

"This is great. This is great," Pat McDivitt blurted. "I'm speechless. Oh, I'm just speechless."

"I'm the happiest person in the whole world," Mrs. White, whose name is also Pat, exclaimed. "I can't tell you how proud I am. This is the happiest day of my life."

Nervously Happy

The wives were nervously happy as they met reporters shortly after their husbands were lifted from the sea to safety.

They both followed the spacecraft's re-entry by television sets in the bedrooms of their homes. Mrs. McDivitt watched with her children, Mike, 8, and Lynn, 6, and Patrick, 4, and her sister, Mrs. Terry Sanders of Cleveland, Ohio.

With Mrs. White were her children, Eddie, 11, Bonnie Lynn, 9, and the wife of astronaut Neil A. Armstrong. The wives of four other astronauts were in an adjoining room.

Mrs. McDivitt, said she wasn't worried about the reentry. "I wasn't upset. The doctors told me everything would be fine," she said. "I just wanted it any way they could pick them up."

Big Celebration

Mrs. White said she was sending her husband an early Father's Day gift, shaving lotion, and a birthday card to McDivitt, who will be 36 years old Thursday. She said she plans "the biggest celebration we can have," when her husband returns.

Mrs. McDivitt plans no special meal. "I'm not much of a cook," she said, "she probably expects just soup and sandwiches." She added there will be a sweet dessert McDivitt likes.

Both spoke hopefully of a vacation. Mrs. White said she wants to go to Colorado. Mrs. McDivitt said her family may visit relatives in Cleveland, Ohio and Jackson, Mich.

Thursday swim in space—the second in history—he had mounted a camera outside the spacecraft and it likely recorded much of the space visit. Films were also available of the first human satellite, Soviet cosmonaut Alexei Leonov.

By Hand, Clock

During the blazing fireball plunge to earth, the astronauts had taken over for a broken computer and they flew by hand and clock to a nearly perfect landing—just 46 miles and one minute short of target. In space, they saw two other flying, man-made objects—but they have not been definitely identified.

The Wasp recovered the spacecraft from the Atlantic at 1:26 p.m. CST—2 hours and 13 minutes after splashdown.

In Houston, at a post-flight news conference, doctors reported they were checking for any residual effects of the flight.

White had an elevated heart rate and blood pressure, part of it due to excitement.

His normal preflight heart rate was 50 beats per minute—but it was 96 lying down on the examining table on the carrier. When the table was tilted so that White was upright, his heart went to almost 150 beats per minute. During his walk in space, his heart rate shot up to 178 beats a minute.

Flight officials hailed the 4-day ordeal of McDivitt and White as a tremendous achievement—and a major step toward developing the experience and equipment that will lead to a flight to the moon.

The astronauts in their cramped spacecraft—crowded by debris and equipment—splashed down just 17 minutes after they fired their braking rockets some 90 miles over New Mexico.

Within Minutes

A helicopter was hovering inated.

over the bobbing spacecraft within minutes.

The first words from the astronauts was that they were hungry.

"Hooray! Hooray! We're going to the Wasp," said McDivitt.

Jubilant flight officials called the 62-orbit trip—lasting 97 hours and 57-minutes—set a new U.S. space endurance record—but was still shy of the marathon Soviet feat of 119 hours in space.

Within half an hour after splashdown, both astronauts were in a life raft dropped by one of the recovery helicopters and White did a few stand-up exercises.

There was a wild and cheering crowd of sailors on the deck of the Wasp as the space-suited astronauts stepped out of the helicopter.

Armed helicopters flying cover for U.S. airborne soldiers carrying out a road cleaning project east of the big Bien Hoa Air Base came under fire from heavy automatic weapons.

Planes Called In

Air Strikes were called in and pilots reported they killed 10 Viet Cong and wounded 15 others.

Officers on the scene said they believed the Communists may have been laying in ambush for the para-trooper convoy.

A heavy combat force from the 173rd Airborne Brigade had moved out of Bien Hoa, just north of Saigon, to clear Communists from the road to Ben Vinh, about 40 miles east of Saigon. Civilian traffic, including regular buses, moved along the road, but military convoys have avoided it for months because of Viet Cong attacks.

Participating in the operation were two platoons of infantry, 10 armored personnel carriers, armed helicopters, fighter planes and a unit of

"SPATs"—self-propelled anti-tank vehicles mounting a 90mm cannon and carrying a four-man crew.

SPATs Immobilized

Neat Ben Vinh, the convoy was halted at a bridge which had been blown up. The heavy, tracked SPATs were unable to move around the bridge because of rough terrain.

While the convoy was stopped, the Viet Cong fired on the helicopters. After the air strikes hammered at the guerrillas, one company of airborne soldiers was moved in by helicopter.

They encountered some fire, but suffered no casualties and moved out an hour later. The convoy returned to Bien Hoa.

Stilts Disperse

In Saigon, some 300 elderly Roman Catholic laymen staged a sit-in demonstration Monday night inside Gia Long Palace, then peacefully dispersed. They demanded the ouster of Premier Phan Huy Quat on grounds of discrimination against Catholics and that he is leaning toward neutrality in the war.

The charges were filed in the office of County Judge Kenneth Samuels in Chappell.

INCOME TAX MOVES AHEAD

...Bill Survives Kill Vote, 27-21; Exemptions Liberalized

The proposed flat-rate state income tax bill leaped its second major legislative floor barrier Monday, and headed down the home stretch toward final reading.

thority to the governor would be unconstitutional.

Carpenter offered the kill motion (as he did on general file), but said he is content to see the bill passed, then submitted to a referendum vote of the people in 1966.

Following floor action, Bauer said the Burbach amendment “probably strengthened the bill” in terms of a referendum contest, and he remains satisfied with the contents of the measure.

Practical effect of the amendment will be to reduce the taxable base and thus boost the necessary tax rate something less than one-half of one per cent, Burbach estimated.

2.5% Needed

LB797 would levy an individual and corporate income tax as of Jan. 1, 1967 to replace the state property tax.

The rate necessary to replace anticipated property levies (including county institutional levies) has been tagged at about 2.5%.

Carpenter attempted to amend the bill to supply the progressive rate features of the federal income tax, but was turned down on a 19-28 vote.

Estes' Conviction Thrown Out; Trial Televised

SUPREME COURT RULING AFFECTS TEXAS STATE SWINDLING CASE

Washington (UPI) — The Supreme Court Monday threw out Billie Sol Estes' conviction on a Texas swindling charge because his trial was televised.

The historic decision split the court as it wrestled for the first time with the question whether a defendant can get a fair trial under the eye of television cameras.

By the narrowest margin, 5 to 4, it ruled that in Estes' case he couldn't. But two justices explicitly said no sweeping meaning should be read into Monday's opinion.

Blocks Right To Know'
Bruce Palmer, president of the Radio-Television News Directors Association, and Ralph Sewell, president of Sigma Delta Chi, a professional journalism society, issued a joint statement saying the decision blocks the public's right to know.

"(The ruling) seems to reflect the prejudices erected by the American Bar Association . . . (and) the widespread failure by bar and bench to comprehend the sophistication of modern communications which has made television a prime news medium on which millions of Americans rely for information," they said.

The reversal affected only a state conviction of Estes, a one-time millionaire west Texas promoter. It did not touch a federal mail-fraud conviction under which he is now serving a 15-year sentence in the penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan.

Among the questions left unanswered by the court's division is whether the case will have any effect on televising of congressional hearings in which witnesses might be subject to later criminal trials.

This was the high tribunal's last sitting before summer recess which ends Oct. 4.

Important Decisions

It marked the occasion with several significant decisions, among them ones which held that:

—Unions forfeit their exemption from antitrust laws if they conspire with certain employers to drive other employers out of business.

Whether such was the case with the United Mineworkers of America and several soft coal producers was left to low-

Well-Run Television 'Proper'

Tyler, Tex. (UPI) — The judge who permitted television cameras in the courtroom for the Billie Sol Estes trial said Monday he still believes televising of trials is proper if well-supervised.

The judge in the 1962 trial was Otis Dunagan, who now is chief justice of the 12th Court of Civil Appeals.

Asked if Monday's Supreme Court decision reversing Estes' conviction of a state swindling charge has caused him to change his mind about whether TV coverage of trials is appropriate, Dunagan said: "Not a bit in the world, if it is under proper supervision."

Dunagan added, "There is not anything I can say that could change (the Supreme Court) decision. It is now the law. We'll have to abide by it."

At Monahans, Tex., State Dist. Atty. A. R. Archer Jr. said he would prosecute Estes a second time for swindling, possibly on a different indictment.

"But I won't like it," he said.

Birth Control Law Upset, Ruled Invasion Of Privacy

Washington (UPI) — The Supreme Court struck down Monday Connecticut's birth control law, ruling it is an unconstitutional invasion of the privacy of marriage.

The state law prohibited the use of contraceptives and advice about them. No other state has as sweeping a law on this subject.

Justice William O. Douglas, speaking for a 7-2 majority, said this 1879 law "operates directly on an intimate relation of husband and wife and their physician's role in one aspect of that relation."

He declared this deals "with a right of privacy older than the Bill of Rights—older than our political parties, older than our school system."

'Uncommonly Silly Law'

Justice Potter Stewart, in a dissent joined by Justice L. Black, said, "I think this is an uncommonly silly law" but it violates no provision of the Federal Constitution.

Justice Arthur J. Goldberg, in a concurring opinion joined in by Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justice William J. Brennan Jr., agreed that the Constitution does not speak "in so many words of the right of privacy in marriage." But he added:

"I cannot believe that it offends these fundamental rights no protection."

Goldberg said the 9th Amendment—part of the Bill of Rights—expressly recognizes there are fundamental personal rights, such as this one, which are protected from

(and) the widespread failure by bar and bench to comprehend the sophistication of modern communications which has made television a prime news medium on which millions of Americans rely for information," they said.

The reversal affected only a state conviction of Estes, a one-time millionaire west Texas promoter. It did not touch a federal mail-fraud conviction under which he now is serving a 15-year sentence in the penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan.

Among the questions left unanswered by the court's division is whether the case will have any effect on televising of congressional hearings in which witnesses might be subject to later criminal trials.

This was the high tribunal's last sitting before summer recess which ends Oct. 4.

Important Decisions

It marked the occasion with several significant decisions, among them ones which held that:

—Unions forfeit their exemption from antitrust laws if they conspire with certain employers to drive other employers out of business.

Whether such was the case with the United Mineworkers of America and several soft coal producers was left to lower courts to determine in a new trial of the independent union.

Selling Hours Fixed

—It is not illegal for a union—in this case the AFL-CIO Amalgamated Meat Cutters—to get together with employers—in this case Chicago retail stores—to fix marketing hours. No conspiracy was involved, said Justice Byron R. White in announcing the court's ruling.

—A federal law that makes it a crime for a Communist to serve as a labor union official is unconstitutional. Chief Justice Earl Warren, announcing the 5-4 decision, said the law amounted to "a bill of attainder"—because it inflicted punishment without a judicial trial.

Monday's ruling frees Estes on an impending 8-year sentence on the Texas charge, although he conceivably could be retried.

In its decision, the court had to balance two constitutional cornerstones—freedom of expression and a man's right to a fair trial. Estes, who tried to keep the cameras out of the Tyler courtroom and failed, argued he thereby was denied due process of the law.

Five justices—Tom C. Clark, Warren, William O. Douglas, Arthur J. Goldberg and John M. Harlan—agreed with him.

Four—Potter Stewart, White, Hugo L. Black and William J. Brennan—didn't.

And one of the five who did—Harlan—qualified the import of his and the majority's finding.

Speaking for that majority, Clark said:

"A defendant on trial for a specific crime is entitled to his day in court, not in a stadium, or a city or nationwide arena. The heightened public clamor resulting from radio and television coverage will inevitably result in prejudice."

'Alien'

"Trial by television is, therefore, foreign to our system."

However, Harlan emphasized his belief that the Estes trial was special. It was, he said, "a heavily publicized and highly sensational affair." So, Harlan added, "I therefore put aside all other types of cases."

Underscoring the fact that the court is moving into a hot constitutional arena, Harlan said:

"The probable impact of courtroom television on the fairness of a trial may vary according to the particular kind of case involved. The impact of television on a trial exciting wide popular interest may be one thing; the impact on a run-of-the-mill case may be quite another . . ."

'Unplowed Field'

"The court should proceed only step by step in this unplowed field."

One of the four dissenters, Brennan, took a similar tack: "Today's decision is not a blanket constitutional prohibition against the televising of state criminal trials."

Besides Texas, only Colorado permits televising of criminal trials. The American Bar Association has said taking of photographs, broadcasting or televising court proceedings should not be permitted. However, the Texas bar took the position that they are not detrimental if properly controlled.

'But I won't like it,' he said.

Birth Control Law Upset, Ruled Invasion Of Privacy

Washington (UPI) — The Supreme Court struck down Monday Connecticut's birth control law, ruling it is an unconstitutional invasion of the privacy of marriage.

The state law prohibited the use of contraceptives and advice about them. No other state has as sweeping a law on this subject.

Justice William O. Douglas, speaking for a 7-2 majority, said this 1879 law "operates directly on an intimate relation of husband and wife and their physician's role in one aspect of that relation."

He declared this deals "with a right of privacy older than the Bill of Rights—older than our political parties, older than our school system."

'Uncommonly Silly Law'

Justice Potter Stewart, in a dissent joined by Justice L. Black, said, "I think this is an uncommonly silly law" but it violates no provision of the federal Constitution.

Justice Arthur J. Goldberg, in a concurring opinion joined in by Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justice William J. Brennan Jr., agreed that the Constitution does not speak "in so many words" of the right of privacy in marriage." But he added:

"I cannot believe that it offers these fundamental rights no protection."

Goldberg said the 9th Amendment—part of the Bill of Rights—expressly recognizes there are fundamental personal rights, such as this one, which are protected from

Mapp Decision Not Retroactive

Washington (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled Monday that its 1961 ban on use of unconstitutionally seized evidence in state courts does not apply to cases decided before that time.

The 4th Amendment to the Constitution says "the right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated."

This guarantee has long been interpreted to exclude illegally seized evidence from federal trials.

State courts in general have declined to apply the 1961 Mapp decision retroactively. Authorities have argued that such an application would let thousands of prisoners out of jail.

The high temperatures of re-entry into the atmosphere charred the Gemini 4's heat shield Monday. Nearly half of it was

Nicholson Guilty Of Manslaughter

Pasadena, Calif. (UPI) — A seven-man, five-woman jury returned a verdict of manslaughter against wealthy Timothy Nicholson Monday after deliberating two days.

Nicholson, 22, faces a prison term of from 1 to 10 years under California law. The exact length of his term will be decided by the California Adult Authority.

Nicholson was tried for the death of his twin brother, Todd.

A probation and sentencing hearing was set for July 9, when a motion for a new trial will be received, said Superior Judge H. Burton Noble.

His mother, Roberta Nicholson, was present in the audience.

She declined to comment on the verdict.

The manslaughter verdict was the mildest possible, outside of acquittal, which the jury could have returned.

The jury did not specify if its verdict was for voluntary or involuntary manslaughter. Both carry the same sentence.

The twins, heirs to the Cudahy meat packing and Pullman sleeping car fortunes, jointly inherited $1 million, and were investors in several real estate projects, which included the apartment house where Todd died.

—BILL CONTROVERSIAL—

McNamara Calls Pay Increase Fair

Washington (UPI) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara described the administration's controversial military pay raise bill Monday as fair to both servicemen and taxpayers.

As McNamara opened the administration's battle for its pay bill against a bigger one introduced by 34 of the 37 members of the House Armed Services Committee, there appeared to be a mood of compromise in the air.

Ranking Republicans and Democrats on the committee expressed hope to McNamara that after hearings on the rival proposals there could be a meeting of minds.

"All we want to do is the right thing," declared Rep. William H. Bates, R-Mass. "I'm sure you feel the same way."

No Deprecation

And Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., whose committee has often clashed with McNamara and who himself has denounced as "disgracefully inadequate" the pay proposals drawn up by a special presidential panel, told McNamara:

"This committee doesn't deprecate in any way our efforts for and concern for American servicemen."

McNamara noted the complexity of military pay scales and that there was even disagreement on the cost of the committee bill and the administration.

Rivers, however, denounced the presidential panel's conclusion that military pay raises in 1962, 1963 and 1964 have placed military compensation at a level "sufficient to attract and retain adequate numbers and quality of personnel in the armed forces."

The smoothest whisky ever to come out of Canada!

What's your usual? Rye? Bourbon? Canadian? Compare it with this elegant new import and you'll never settle for less or pay more.

1. Smoother-tasting than any other whisky on the market. Pour two drinks—highball or over ice. Make one with your "usual," the other with Windsor. You'll be amazed at the sippin' smoothness of Windsor.
2. Windsor Canadian is finer tasting, too! No wonder: it's distilled and aged in mile-high, dry Rocky Mountain air, made from hearty Canadian prairie grains and pure, clear glacial water.
3. Priced right in line with leading domestic whiskies. Because we import Windsor, and
4. Windsor Canadian is imported and bottled by National Distillers . . . producers of some of the world's best-known brands.
5. Compare the price and the smoothness of Windsor. Thousands of Americans already have, and now make Windsor their favorite whisky. Why not join them tonight?

Row Crops In Need Of Some Dry Weather

... Rains Improve Wheat

Rains last week which ranged up to heavy downpours improved wheat prospects and helped pastures and ranges, but some warm, dry weather currently is needed for row crops, government crop observers reported Monday.

About 95% of the corn had been planted by last weekend, approximately the same progress as was noted at the same time last year, according to the weekly crop report of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

So far, planting approaches 75% completion and nearly 70% of soybeans are in the ground, the report said.

However, considerable replanting of all row crops has been and will be necessary because of severe washing rains and flooding in some areas. Rains of five to nine inches occurred in some portions of Butler and Lincoln Counties Friday night and Saturday morning.

Row crop fields are becoming quite weedy as it has been impossible to cultivate, the report said.

Other observations:

The wheat crop is headed and kernels are developing in the southern half of the state,

The State Safety Patrol reported Solomon's car struck the rear of a truck driven by Doyd G. High of Culbertson which had stopped to make a turn. The patrol said both vehicles were westbound.

Young Freimuth died in a Scottsbluff hospital Monday of injuries he received in an intersection collision eight miles northeast of Scottsbluff Sunday night.

4 Hospitalized

His car was in collision with a pickup truck driven by Plorino Martinez, 37, of Scottsbluff, who was hospitalized with chest injuries. Also hospitalized were Martinez's wife, Aduela, and two children, Mary, 14, and Joe, 6.

Mrs. Prorok died Sunday night in the collision of a car and a Union Pacific freight train at the edge of Wahoo.

Injured in the accident were her husband, Melvin, 22, driver of the car; Garry Ruzek, 19, and Pearl Prohaska, 17, all of Wahoo. They were hospitalized.

Edward H. Wehnes, 73, Hastings, was killed Saturday in a two-car collision at Inland, Neb. The other driver, James Nepple, 20, Vail, Iowa, was injured.

Douglas County Senators Rap Income Tax Bill

Douglas County's 10 senators Monday issued a three-page statement outlining their opposition to the proposed state income tax bill, LB797, "a bill we feel is detrimental to the lives, liberty and economic well-being of the citizens of Nebraska."

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha attempted to enter the statement in the Legislative Journal after it had been read aloud on the floor of the unicameral, but lawmakers shouted down the motion. Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton said the statement is "no longer factual" because of changes made in the bill on the floor.

Douglas County senators said LB797 is "the most regressive tax-broadening proposal ever introduced in Nebraska. It is even more regressive than a retail sales tax."

More Than One Way

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

According to reports, even the Nebraska State Education Association has its apportionment problems. Well over half of the organization's membership comes from two southeastern districts but these two districts have only a fourth of the representation on the important 16-member executive committee. What the NSEA does about its apportionment problem is a matter for the educators themselves to handle but it does demonstrate an interesting situation.

It demonstrates, for instance, that there are many ways to skin a cat, so to speak.

Opponents to the one man, one vote principle advanced by the U.S. Supreme Court in the apportionment of state legislatures maintain that such a ruling subjects rural areas to domination by urban representatives. The theory, however, is largely the product of fear and exaggeration rather than fact. For one thing, the urban representation is not likely to be together on all issues. The income tax in the Nebraska Legislature is a good example of this.

The 10-member Omaha delegation has been 100 percent opposed to the bill while the Lincoln delegation has been two-to-one in favor of the measure. Splits along this line are common as between Omaha and Lincoln, thus raising a question as to the urban coalition theory. And of course, it works the same way many times among rural senators who do not always see things in the same light.

But the significant fact in the case of the NSEA is that the apportionment problem is most prominent within the group's official organizational structure. The same thing could be done in the Nebraska Legislature if there were an inclination to do so.

Representation is one thing and organization of the Legislature is another. The Legislature governs its own organization and it could easily stack things in favor of the rural areas. It could deny committee chairmanships to urban senators, could create new committees without urban representation, could change requirements for approval of legislation and could do a host of other things. In other words, it could heavily stack the deck against the urban areas in the organization of itself for doing business. This is not likely to happen and the reasons this is so are more proof of no

Sunday was an especially eventful day in the Ainsworth vicinity.

In the first place it rained. Before that the locality faced a serious future of drought. Now things are greening up. All that in itself was cause for celebrating.

But in the second place there are some 34,000 acres that will need not worry any more about drought. The main canals of the new Ainsworth reclamation project were running full.

Ainsworth is midway east and west in Nebraska, not many miles below the South Dakota border, still in the Sandhills country, just east of big Cherry County. Its soil is drawing water from Merritt Dam near Valentine. The water comes through a diversion canal 53 miles long.

The project, which was begun in 1959 is not yet complete. But the water is present value in the coalition theory.

To begin with, rural senators would have a hard time finding a majority of the membership of the Legislature who would go along with such a plan. It would be an inequity and an injustice and most senators would not subscribe to such action out of a clear blue sky. Rural senators would form no coalition even to guarantee the perpetuation of their own power and authority. If they wouldn't act for this reason, it is hard to see why or when they would act in this direction. And there is no reason to believe that urban senators are any less responsible than rural senators.

If rural senators had real cause for such unity, it could become a possibility but only urban senators would or could provide such cause. The fact is that the urban senators often find much more in common with their rural colleagues than they do with the urban counterparts. The political reality is that there is often conflict between urban delegations and sometimes within these delegations themselves.

Nebraska's U.S. Senator Roman Hruska has been making many appearances recently around the country, denouncing the Supreme Court ruling on reapportionment. He has, in some way, presented the ruling as a conflict in which the judges have denied in essence the very theory they expound in their opinion.

To date, we have been unable to see the logic of the senator's position. If the Supreme Court ruling is not the epitome of individual rights, then we do not know what it is. The truth is that it is carrying as far as one can the theory of individuality that the senator so often upholds in issues as they come before the Congress. He is constantly opposed to government action of one kind or another because he sees it as an invasion of the rights of the individual. Yet he is opposed to the one man, one vote principle which is total reliance upon the individual.

This theory simply throws out any consideration other than the voter. It seeks to count the individual as the only measure of representation, subjecting him to no other considerations such as area or personal interest. It makes one wonder if the senator is always as opposed to special interests as he professes or whether he just opposes certain special interests.

Dominican Figures A Bizarre Group

WASHINGTON—A bizarre series of comedies took place behind the scenes in the Dominican Republic all adding up to tragedy. They also emphasized the importance of strengthening the peace-keeping machinery of the Western Hemisphere.

Actor No. 1 is Dr. Jose Mora of Uruguay, secretary general of the OAS. He holds office for ten years and nobody can remove him.

Ambassador Mora has sent some unique reports back to Washington. They consist of detailed accounts of how he delivered 200 kilos of beans on such and such a street corner at 2 p.m. in Santo Domingo, 220 kilos of beans on another street corner the next day, and 200 kilos of beans or other food at another street corner later. Dr. Mora, from reading these reports, did little toward conciliation, much toward distributing beans.

Actor No. 2 is OAS Ambassador Ricardo Colombo, former Argentine congressman from San Juan province. Some time ago president Ilia approached Colombo, whose district had lost three elections, and told him he wanted an able man to represent Argentina on the organization of American states. Colombo, he said, would be just the man.

Apparently the Argentine congressman did not know enough about the OAS to realize it was located in Washington, not New York.

Nevertheless he was appointed, and last month found himself in the Dominican Republic as head of an OAS peace team.

Actor No. 3 is Col. Francisco Caamaño Deno who last month wrote a letter to the OAS in Washington inviting the three democracy champions of the Caribbean—ex-Governor Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico, ex-president Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela, and ex-President Pepi Figueres of Costa Rica—to come and investigate whether there was any communism in the rebel forces. The Caamaño letter was read to the OAS by Ambassador Magnet of Chile. But nothing was done.

Actor No. 4 is William Tapley Bennett, ambassador to the Dominican Republic, an experienced diplomat, but credited with being too flushed when he cabled President Johnson asking for military intervention.

Actor No. 5 is Gen. Antonio Imbert, provisional president of the Dominican Republic under the military junta, and a dashing figure whom Americans distrusted in the past.

Despite his egocentricities, he was picked by special U.S. Ambassador John Bartlow Martin to become head of the military government.

ing for their safety. Australia, though a separate continent, backs us up. The only places we have lost face are the communist nations and Chile—neither France. Also, Russia and China are not becoming that much friendlier. The A-bomb now developed in China pulls the two apart. Moreover, Mao's philosophy of reckless aggression does not fit Russia's policy of "coexistence." Which brings us to the last point. If anyone thinks that Russia will be lured into atomic warfare, forget it! They know that we could destroy their country many times over and although Red China has not perfected their b o m b yet, half of their large population could be destroyed in one American assault. No, the people in the Kremlin realize that atomic war would solve nothing.

Yes, the Asian war is necessary, both for our defense and even for our ultimate survival. Benjamin Franklin once said, in effect, that those who would sacrifice freedom for a little temporary safety deserve neither freedom nor safety. Yes, peace at any reasonable price. No, peace at the price of Viet Nam!

In a few years I may be drafted into service and be sent to Viet Nam, but I write this letter today because of my belief in freedom and democracy, and in the privilege to defend it.

Patchwork Prairie Country

When the noon day sun beats down bright and steaming hot, then the good ol' summertime is here once more. Today is such a day. To further my belief that the lazy, hazy days of summer are here, I have suddenly acquired the habit of drifting off to sleep after dinner. I always have good intentions of overcoming the habit when I leave the table.

I take the daily paper in hand and settle myself in the most comfortable chair in the living room. Before I have read half of the paper, I begin to get that drowsy feeling. I find my way across the room to the sofa where I think I will recline a moment or two until that listless feeling leaves. Before I have a second thought, I am fast asleep.

Blue Jeans has just aroused me from my mid-day snooze.

"The Farmer is stuck with the tractor in the field and I have to go down and pull him out!" he shouted through the open door.

All morning The Farmer has been skirting back and forth along the edges of the low ground where the water was high during the heavy rains, but there is something of a challenge in seeing how close he can get without getting stuck. Now he has found his limits and Blue Jeans has found excitement.

We are no further ahead with our farm work than we were two weeks ago, since all the milo must be replanted. Seven inches of rainfall have been taken out to the stalk. I have doubts as to whether they will send out new leaves again. I fear the rabbits will begin nibbling the bigger beans when they have completely damaged the smaller ones.

The rows of beans have been eaten down to the stalk.

I have doubts as to whether they will send out new leaves again. I fear the rabbits will begin nibbling the bigger beans when they have completely damaged the smaller ones.

Mrs. Rabbit has no doubt been taking her young litter out every night to the bean patch. Twelve small ears peaking through the bean bushes must present quite a picture, especially with Duke sleeping peacefully at the gate.

Blue Jeans is philosophical about the matter.

"Oh, well, if they have to eat something from the garden, it may as well be beans. I don't like them, anyway."

a way of damaging newly planted fields.

This morning Blue Jeans has been strawing the tomatoes and cucumbers. He said he preferred seeing the red tomatoes sliced in a dish rather than the vines that needed straw packed about their roots.

I reminded him that the tomatoes would taste better than ever since he had turned a hand in helping to produce them.

"The fruits of one's labor are always the sweetest," I quoted him.

It fell on deaf ears. Old proverbs and the younger generation do not mix.

Several weeks ago the man who owns the hives of bees standing in the sheltered area up on the hill arrived with queen bees. He had an extra supply of boxes and divided the hives after putting a new queen into each box.

There has been a steady stream of bees leaving and entering the hives the past week. When the weather clears and becomes warm, the bees prefer to work.

Blue Jeans is philosophical about the matter.

Dirty Word

Lincoln, Neb.

It has to happen every two years.

Nebraska is in a state of insurrection and chaos because its people are threatened with taxation. The people of the state act like a big dinner party where everyone has dined well and is trying by every means possible to finagle some other members into picking up the tab. Nebraskans are the most cheerful and amiable people on earth—until you suggest taxes. The word shows up like the handwriting on the wall at Belshazzar's feast.

Life in this state would be one grand sweet song if we were not for that horrid word, "taxes." Politicians fly to the political storm cellar breathing a prayer that they be delivered from the wrath to come. The whole citizenship is discordant and angry until the issue is settled. The "White Spot" grows red and inflamed on our eastern border while Terry thunders like Jove from the hills of Scottsbluff.

A man who has lived in Nebraska for parts of two centuries remembers calmly that we are only acting normally. People behaved the same way back in the 19th Century. The uproar has only been better organized and a little more universal since the "White Spot" got going good 40 years ago.

Now we turn the protestations off and on automatically and efficiently whenever the dreadful word is mentioned. We protest our ruin and agony like an Armenian in a Turkish bazaar until the moment of truth arrives when the deal is consummated and we know that the state can go on for two more years.

Fellow citizens, let not your hearts be troubled. Some way, I know not how, this business will be settled shortly, but we should feel ashamed of ourselves, we should feel that Nebraska is not living up to its privileges and traditions unless we emit thunderous belchings and roarings accompanied by steam and fury like the periodic emissions from "Old Faithful." This is a good state. We have got the money.

We will pay it out for the governmental essentials at the last, but this is just our biennial taxpayers' frenzy and we should feel positively ashamed if we didn't "just raise hell about it."

Tax Equity

Lincoln, Neb.

It is the greatest conceivable unconscious hypocrisy to refuse the help of a 3% sales tax and a 2% or 3% income tax to reduce the burden and inadequacy of a property tax which commonly taxes 20% of the net income of the owner.

A 3% retail sales tax never takes more than 3% of net in-

This managed water is expected to increase Nebraska's agricultural income by $1.25 million a year.

Sunday 3,000 local people gathered at the Ainsworth airport to make note of this new man-made bonanza. They saw an air show, ate 1,000 pounds of barbecued beef and went home assured of a better life.

What eastern Nebraska needs is a change of population with the drier sections. They would soon do something about eastern Nebraska's erosion and waste of so much water.

What is wrong with eastern Nebraska is that it is so abundantly supplied with natural resources that it is shiftless about conservation.

Happy Space Journey Ending

With pride and relief, Americans welcome the two-man Gemini-4 space crew back to earth. After a historic four days in orbit around the earth, James McDivitt and Edward White landed their craft within a few miles of the pre-determined Atlantic target area. In short order, they were plucked from the ocean and rushed by helicopter to the Carrier Wasp and the beginning of a long round of activity.

For the country as a whole, now comes the less spectacular but more vital part of the space flight—weeks and months of analysis of the data collected, the pictures taken and the experience of the two men themselves. Thus will a vast storehouse of information be built up as a foundation for the future.

The Marines Have Gone

The withdrawal of the Marines was a more a psychological move than anything. Latin Americans have had lots of experience with the U.S. Marine Corps. They consider it a very businesslike body of men and they feel that when they arrive the situation is very serious. Simply pulling them out indicates that things are better.

But it would be unrealistic to think that because the Marines are gone we can dismiss the seriousness of the Dominican uprising. The little country is still badly divided and neither side has as yet been able to put forth a leadership group that will satisfy the yearnings for peace and quiet. The paratroopers may have to remain on duty for an indefinite number of weeks yet. The country is still armed. The shooting may have died down but the general posture is still belligerent. The trouble can start up again if an answer cannot be swiftly found.

The extreme differences between the forces of Col. Camano and General Imbert, coupled with the real shortage of effective Dominican leadership, makes it unrealistic to feel the Dominican problems now will quickly end.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Retirement Colonies Require New Breed Of Social Director

By ROBERT PETERSON

Retirement colonies are the newest thing in geriatrics. Ranging in size from the 14-unit Palazzo del Monte in Santa Fe, N.M., to the 18,000-unit Leisure World at Laguna Hills, Calif., these colonies are proliferating at an astonishing rate.

Also proliferating is a demand for a new breed of social director — persons trained in recreation, arts and crafts who can minister to the leisure needs of colony guests.

Why are such directors essential? Because retirees these days want activity. They don't want to sit in rockers and reminisce. Modern elders want social mingling and creative activity — and this requires expert leadership.

Some elder iconoclasts may insist they are self-reliant and wouldn't be caught dead participating in group activities. But such crusty characters don't move to retirement colonies in the first place.

Candidates for these colonies are friendly, outgoing people who want to know their neighbors, who aren't too proud to admit they find it difficult to use leisure time, and who delight in programs and events planned for their pleasure.

An example of this new breed of social director is Miss Margaret Wright, an ebullient, chatty woman in her 50's who heads the show at Leisure Village, Lakewood, N.J. This is the East Coast's first major retirement colony for folks past 55. Two-bedroom condominium apartments here average $15,000, plus maintenance of about $70 monthly. Nearly 200 units of a planned 5,000-unit development are already built and occupied.

"People used to retire to a solitary kind of existence," says Miss Wright, whose varied background includes 14 years as arts and crafts director in a government facility, "but not anymore. Older people today have the good sense to realize that age need not be a deterrent to fun and meaningful living.

"Instead of spending their time mulling over the memories of a lifetime and awaiting the infirmities of age, they are interested in acquiring new skills, maintaining their health, sampling new adventures and broadening their circle of friends."

What does her work entail? "It's up to me to see that people meet each other and that we have facilities, equipment and classes to help guests pursue any interests they may have, from oil painting and ceramics to photography and philately. I also plan weekly concerts, lectures and movies, and once a month a bus is chartered for excursions. Our last junket was to the Kentucky Derby."

What's the most popular activity? "Social events. A crowd always turns out when there's a chance to get better acquainted with one's neighbors."

What about the argument that folks might dislike living in a community where they rub elbows only with their contemporaries? "I think the popularity of these communities speaks for itself. It's the very fact that they'll have greater contact with their contemporaries which influences folks to move to a retirement colony in the first place."

What's the retiree's greatest enemy? "Inactivity," she concluded. "I think most physicians will agree that keeping purposefully occupied is the key to health and contentment in later years."

ADVERTISEMENT Doctors quit smoking

CHICAGO — According to a University of Chicago National Opinion Research Center survey, 52% of American doctors do not smoke. Many quit recently due, according to the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, to the conclusive evidence linking cigarettes and lung cancer.

Many doctors gave up smoking without use of will power thanks to a new tablet which helps to progressively eliminate the need for nicotine and, as a result, the desire to smoke. Thanks to this tablet, 88,648 heavy smokers have already stopped smoking.

Smokers interested in receiving information (free) about this new tablet are invited to contact directly the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, Dept. 75-B, 386 Fifth Avenue, New York 1, New York.

It is sufficient to send your name and address. Just a postcard will do.

from Kansas vacationing in town

From Prairie Village, Kan., and their family who are a few days ago came Mr. Becker, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Becker spending a vacation at the home of Mr. Becker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Becker, and Mrs. Becker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Kunc.

of the suburban areas

We are discovering that June brides or brides-to-be are not the only busy people in Lincoln these days. There are numerous families in the suburban areas who are on the go, and are making plans of their own.

These plans involve vacations, entertaining guests, moving into new homes and traveling to out-of-town spots for wedding anniversaries.

FIENE HEIGHTS

A wedding anniversary is the reason why Mr. and Mrs. Don Knutzen and Lynne will be leaving the Fiene Heights area this weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Knutzen and their daughter are anticipating the activities that will surround the home of Mr. Knutzen's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Kasper in Atkinson, because Mr. and Mrs. Kasper will observe their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house.

Making the trip to Atkinson with Mr. and Mrs. Knutzen will be Mr. Knutzen's mother, Mrs. Alma Knutzen, and his sister Miss Joyce Knutzen, of Cedar Bluffs. We can see that it will be quite a weekend for the three Knutzens.

Another wedding anniversary to mention this morning—but this one already has been observed.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Witt marked their 28th year of marriage with a backyard picnic on Sunday evening.

The informal dinner was strictly a family affair, but as much fun and probably much less frustrating than if 100 guests would have been on hand. Members of the family who were present were Mr. and Mrs. Witt's son, Fred Jr., and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Dunham.

We promised out-of-town guests and here they are. Word comes from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Goe that their son and daughter-in-law arrived Monday night for a three day visit. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goe and their two children, Michael and Marcy, motored up from McPherson, Kan., for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Goe. When the traveling foursome leaves Lincoln on Thursday, they will continue on to Omaha and then go to Grand Island for visits with friends and relatives, and then plan to make a return stop in Lincoln before heading home.

There are two families in the Fiene Heights area that migrated to new homes last week.

One of these new home dwellers are Mr. and Mrs. Ruel Fay, who have chosen Cherokee Village, Ark. for their new residence. Mr. and Mrs. Fay admit that fair weather conditions and former visits lured them to the Arkansas city.

Mr. and Mrs. Fay formerly resided at 4120 Fiene Blvd., but after scanning the area for the latest developments we discovered they did not leave the house vacant. The newcomers are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Watson who changed their address from 304 Witherbee to Fiene Blvd.

PRAIRIE VALLEY

There are newcomers in the Prairie Valley area, also. Mr. and Mrs. Warren Anderson came to Lincoln and 4551 Meadow Lane after residing in Norfolk for many years. But Lincoln is not new to the Andersons. Mr. Anderson graduated from the University of Nebraska and is a member of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson have two children, Ronald, 13 and Jeanelle who is 10.

KIMBERLY HEIGHTS

Kimberly Heights claimed a very interesting weekend guest, in fact, this guest brought the Governor's official patrol car to one of the residents homes. It was all very exciting and fun according to the guest's host, Mrs. Glenn Ridnour. Mrs. Ridnour had Mrs. Les Anderson of Omaha as her three-day guest, but a trip to Grand Island interrupted the stay.

Mrs. Anderson is chairman of the Governor's Council of Nebraska Beautiful and her duties this weekend took her, and Gov. Morrison, to Grand Island on Saturday. The two officially dedicated the Carl A. Anderson Soldiers Memorial Building in the third city.

Opening lead — seven of hearts.

The opening lead is frequently the most important play of the entire hand, but, unfortunately, the nature of the game is such that the opening lead is often only a shot in the dark.

While a defender always has the bidding to help guide him towards the best opening lead, this often is not enough to point clearly to the most effective lead.

As a result, the opening leader, having to choose between two or more reasonable possibilities, frequently guesses wrong.

of the jack of hearts at trick one was completely wrong, since it opened the avenue to defeat in a hand where he could have guaranteed the contract 100% by playing the five from dummy.

While South had no good reason to suspect a short-suit lead from West, he should have provided against this possibility by playing low from dummy. He could then take a club finesse, not caring much whether it lost, since East, in such case, would be unable to make a damaging return.

South could then force out the ace of diamonds to assure at least ten tricks, and do all this without the slightest risk of jeopardizing the contract.

Opening lead — seven of hearts.

The opening lead is frequently the most important play of the entire hand, but, unfortunately, the nature of the game is such that the opening lead is often only a shot in the dark.

While a defender always has the bidding to help guide him towards the best opening lead, this often is not enough to point clearly to the most effective lead.

As a result, the opening leader, having to choose between two or more reasonable possibilities, frequently guesses wrong.

West had little to go on in the present case and decided to take a shot at finding partner's long suit. Accordingly, he led a heart. This lead proved to be highly successful when declarer, seizing the opportunity to take a free finesse, played the jack from dummy, East covering with the queen.

Declarer took the king and also took a club finesse, which lost. East then forced out the ace of hearts and South eventually went down one when East scored the ace of diamonds and his remaining hearts.

South could then force out the ace of diamonds to assure at least ten tricks, and do all this without the slightest risk of jeopardizing the contract.

PARTY was a surprise housewarming

If Mr and Mrs. J. Gregg Wright had plans for a quiet evening at home last Saturday evening, they changed them in a hurry. Mid-evening brought a ring of the doorbell and a group of unexpected guests who had plans of their own. It was a surprise housewarming for Mr and Mrs Wright who are just settled in their new home at 6940 Benton.

around the town

Before we do another thing we want to extend a belated 'happy birthday' to Miss Rose Carson who, so we hear, celebrated her birthday anniversary last Friday. We may have been a bit slow with our greetings, but there were many who were not. We understand that the postman was weighed down with cards—and that something special came from Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Weisen of Brownville—roses cut from the garden at the old Carson home—in Brownville, of course.

We have greetings this morning, also, for a very petite Miss Jennifer Dee Hahn who arrived on Saturday, June 5. The young lady is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hahn of Scottsdale, Ariz., and her mother is the former Dee Stuart of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Stuart.

Miss Jennifer Dee has two sisters, Christine and Stephanie.

And we have guests to greet, too—Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Blankenship (Lynn Ann Clarke) arrived last Friday from Oakland, Calif., for a visit with Mrs. Blankenship's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clarke.

Last Saturday evening Mrs. Blankenship's grandmother, Mrs. Burnham Campbell, and Mr. Campbell entertained at dinner in courtesy to the visitors. Other out-of-town guests at the party were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Steckley, Jr., of Kansas City, Mo. Dinner places were arranged for 12.

Another greeting—to another guest—Mrs. James Cessford of Edinburgh, Scotland, arrived on Friday to join her daughter, Miss Angela Cessford, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. John A. Brown, III.

Miss Cessford, an exchange student from Edinburgh, has been residing at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Brown during the past year, and will be one of the attendants at the wedding of Dr. and Mrs. Brown's daughter, Miss Joan Brown, and Phillip Nelson on Friday.

On Wednesday morning Mrs. Brown will compliment Mrs. Cessford when she entertains informally at a coffee at her home.

And since we are mentioning the Brown family we may as well include two recent prenuptial courtesies for Miss Brown. One of these was last Friday when Mrs. Ed Tabor, Mrs. J. S. North, Mrs. Doris Wilson and Mrs. D. E. Murray were luncheon hostesses at the Lincoln Country Club. The soon-to-be bride was presented with a kitchen shower.

Then there was the afternoon party and miscellaneous shower on Saturday afternoon when Miss Kathy Johnsen entertained at her home.

Heard a few days ago that Elizabeth Gessen Friedman had a birthday anniversary that always will be celebrated nationwide—May 30. The young Miss Friedman arrived on Sunday, May 30, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Friedman. Her maternal grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Eli Gessner of Cleveland, Ohio, and on the paternal side are Mr. and Mrs. Abe Friedman.

This is Tuesday—and ladies golf day at the Lincoln Country Club—as usual. But that isn't the whole story. Today also is golf day and we are told that teaming up with the club's feminine players will be women golfers from Omaha and Fremont—and from the various Lincoln clubs.

ABBY

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago you had an item in your column telling the party who had picked up her beauty operator's favorite hairbrush please to return it quietly and there would be no questions asked, as someone had witnessed her little stunt. Well, Abby, I am not the beauty operator who wrote to you with that problem, but someone did steal my favorite hairbrush about a year ago, and one day last week it suddenly was back in my drawer. So thanks a lot.

LUCY AT THE LOOKING GLASS

DEAR ABBY: Talk about a coincidence! A hairbrush bearing my initials in nail polish was mailed to me (no return address) in care of the beauty parlor where I was employed over four years ago. I am no longer at that shop, as I now have a shop of my own, but the package was forwarded to me. I couldn't figure it out as it was just an ordinary hairbrush and I never even missed it. The mystery was solved when some of my operators told me about an article which ran in your column about a month ago. Although I am not the person who wrote to you about the missing hairbrush, I thought you might get a laugh out of knowing that someone apparently had a very guilty conscience.

MADALINE IN ATLANTIC CITY, N.J.

DEAR ABBY: Would you please put my mind at ease and put a "confidential" message in your column to "JUST WONDERING"? Answer either yes or no. Was the lady who was seen slipping a hairbrush into her purse from St. Paul, Minnesota? Thank you.

"JUST WONDERING"
DEAR "JUST": No—but return it anyway.

Know the facts about AIR CONDITIONING before you buy

Every air conditioner uses electricity to power its control devices and fan motor. Most air conditioners also use electricity to power the cooling system. By contrast, fuel-burning air conditioners must use electricity plus a second fuel.

Why pay TWO utility bills for air conditioning? One will do!

WHICH ONE IS SIMPLER? Electric air conditioners have the same kind of cooling system found in a refrigerator or home freezer. You know it's simple enough to be efficient, practical, and remarkably trouble-free.

WHICH ONE COSTS LESS? We invite you to get comparative bids from the dealers or contractors of your choice. You will find that electric air conditioning costs far less to buy than the fuel-burning type and, in most cases, costs less to install. This is true with central air conditioning, as well as window units.

WHAT ABOUT "QUALITY"? The quality of air conditioning equipment is determined by the standards of the manufacturer, not by the fuel line to which it is connected. We suggest that you shop for equipment from known manufacturers and from known, reputable dealers. Their warranties, guarantees, and business reputation are your best assurance of quality.

With electric air conditioning you pay for only one fuel.

How could it be cheaper to pay for two?

CONTACT YOUR LOCAL CONSUMERS OFFICE. A qualified specialist can help you determine the size and kind of electric air conditioning equipment that will be most practical in your home. Take advantage of this free service from Consumers.

Garbage Collision Blamed On Train

Orlando, Fla. — Herman Spiker blamed a railroad train when his car was hit by a flying garbage can.

Patrolman R. E. Huber said the huge garbage container owned by the city had been emptied by a truck, then put down too close to the railroad tracks.

A train rolled past and a freight car hit the container, sending it flying into Spiker's car.

On-Sale Beer License OK'd For Drive-In On No. 15th

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The application of Myron's Drive-In, Inc. for an on-sale beer license at 136 No. 15th was approved by the City Council Monday.

The applicant, Myron Roberts, now owns an off-sale beer license at the same location. His attorney, Ben Neff, said that Roberts intends to operate a combination pizza kitchen and tavern in a re-modeled section of the existing building.

Emmett Junge, public safety and welfare director, said this is the first recent case of an off-sale licensee wanting to re-activate a dormant license for the consumption of beer on the premises.

Surrendered

The on-sale license in question never has belonged to Roberts. Junge said, but tracing back through a series of ownership changes it was found that an on-sale license once accompanied the off-sale license now owned by the drive-in corporation, and that license was surrendered by a previous owner.

Neff pointed out that the council's liquor policy resolution limits to 40 the number of allowed on and off-sale licenses, and that only 38 are now in operation.

Mark Buchholz, representing the Lancaster County Beer Association, opposed the application.

Buchholz told the council that to approve the license would authorize a different method of acquiring on-sale licenses.

Councilman John Mason replied that an approval would be consistent with council policy, as there are still two.

Daniel Remigio, Breckenridge Get Posts As Planners

The City Council Monday approved Mayor Dean Petersen's appointment of Adam C. Breckenridge and Daniel R. Remigio to fill unexpired terms on the City-County Planning Commission.

Breckenridge, vice chancellor of the University of Nebraska, will replace Chester B. Dobbs, whose term expires Aug. 24 of this year.

Remigio, Lincoln manager of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., will finish the term of Stanley H. Sands, which runs until Aug. 24, 1969.

Both Dobbs and Sands resigned.

good faith of the community, on the fact there will be a moral government and a soundly run city."

First Nebraska indicated that it will find other purchasers.

Under the agreement, the corporation offers to purchase the bond issue on the following conditions:

—Interest costs, compensation to First Nebraska and expenses payable by First Nebraska in total will not exceed an effective average annual interest rate of 4 1/4%, as calculated to the absolute maturity of the bonds.

Net Profit Limited

—The net profit on the bonds will not exceed 2 1/2% of the aggregate principal amount of the bonds. Any excess net profit will be refunded to the city.

—The purchase price shall be not less than $3,575,000 plus accrued interest to date of payment, not later than Aug. 1, 1965.

—The city will pay the bond attorneys and ordinance publication costs, First Nebraska will pay bond underwriting costs.

Nelson added that the purchaser is "gambling on the city charter."

Both Nelson and Mallon said that hospital revenue bonds of this type are not highly marketable.

Nelson said: "It would be different if these were general obligation bonds where there is a terrific market, or if there were only one hospital."

"This is not like water or sewer revenue bonds where you can just raise the rates to pay off the bonds."

Nelson added that the purchaser is "gambling on the costs."

on-sale licenses that could become operative under the council's policy.

Unanimous

The council vote to approve the application was unanimous.

An ordinance on third reading that would provide for the annexation by the city of approximately 140 acres of land near 70th and Normal Blvd. was postponed one week by the council.

The triangular tract, located east of 62nd, is bordered by Normal on the south, 70th and the south line of South St. on the north.

City department heads told the council that the annexation was desired in order to extend city utilities into the area, as requested by some property owners and land developers.

Included In Budget

Acting Director of Public Utilities Lee Blocker said sewer and water main projects for the area have been included in the capital improvements budget for the next two fiscal years.

The annexation ordinance was strongly opposed by almost 20 area residents who said they had already put in their own utilities. A full public hearing will be held next week.

Council members indicated their preference to withhold any action until it is known how much of the acreage has been developed with private utilities and how much has not.

In other action, Charles Seale, city superintendent of building inspection and chairman of the building code study committee, briefed the council on the committee's decision to recommend the adoption of the Uniform Building Code.

Seale explained the progress in the seven-month effort to update Lincoln's present code and told the council that the committee would expand its efforts to include the plumbing and electrical codes as well.

First Nebraska Securities To Buy Hospital Revenue Bonds

The City Council Monday accepted the offer of First Nebraska Securities Corporation of Lincoln to purchase $3.6 million of revenue bonds for the construction of Lincoln General Hospital.

City Atty. Ralph Nelson

said that the negotiated sale was "a legal sale, entirely within the provisions of the city charter."

Finance Director James Mallon said that a sale in this manner is not unusual. He said that a negotiated sale of a re-issue of sanitary sewer revenue bonds two years ago saved the city $180,000.

Not Highly Marketable

Both Nelson and Mallon said that hospital revenue bonds of this type are not highly marketable.

Nelson said: "It would be different if these were general obligation bonds where there is a terrific market, or if there were only one hospital."

"This is not like water or sewer revenue bonds where you can just raise the rates to pay off the bonds."

From Wrong Field To Right Bank

Omaha—Rick Monday, the highly-touted Arizona State outfielder had trouble finding the right field in his first Little League assignment, but the Sun Devil baseballer likely has already picked out the route to the bank.

Monday is expected to be the first choice when the Kansas City A's step to the drafting microphone in New York City today in the first free agent draft conducted by the major leagues.

The Arizona State ball player may have been born one year too late to get in on the big bonuses such as the reported $175,000 that Wisconsin's Fred Reichert received a year ago, but even with only one club bidding for his services, the price could go into the six figure bracket.

Monday recalls his baseball start 10 years ago as a nine-year-old Little Leaguer.

"I was mainly a first base coach," he remembers. "But I did get in a game once. I was so excited that I went to the wrong field."

But since that day Monday has learned what goes on at the baseball diamond and he's learned that there is a demand for his type of ball player.

In 'Most Wanted' Category

The 19-year-old sophomore now falls in the "most wanted" category with most major league teams.

One pro scout told Arizona State coach Bobby Winkles, "You better play him all you can, and call him to your office if he doesn't have a class and chat with him, because you're not going to see much of him after this season."

However, with all this attention, Monday remains a quiet, well-mannered young man who addresses older people as Sir and Mr. The fact that one California writer has already put him into a class with Mickey Mantle and Willie Mays merely brings a chuckle from Monday.

"That's ridiculous," he offers. "I'm just a college athlete hoping to make good in the pros. I have many faults and I'm working on them constantly. When someone calls me a superstar all I can do is laugh."

As they say, he may laugh all the way to the bank when the College World Series ends here this weekend.

Popular With Teammates

His "star" classification also has failed to affect his relations with his Arizona State teammates who have labeled him with more nicknames than you'll find on a pro rassling poster.

In an exchange of nicknames, Luis Lagunas calls Monday "Hatchet" and he calls Lagunas "Axe". Sal Bando dubbed him "Irrepressible" and he countered by calling Bando "Electrifying".

Some of the players call him "Rook" while others tabbed him "Phenom" and Jim Greta calls Monday "Cyclops" for no apparent reason.

The fact that Winkles has no room for prima donnas on the Arizona State club has helped Monday, the center-fielder figures.

"He makes you toe the mark, which is good," Monday notes. Monday was yanked from the lineup in one game when he did not slide on a close play at home plate and was tagged out.

Both coach Winkles and Monday readily admit that this is probably Monday's last year in an Arizona State uniform.

"I'll probably sign," he says, "but I hope people understand. I want to make my future in professional baseball, and I have ever since I was a little kid."

"But I also know the value of a college education, and you can bet off season I'll be right back at Tempe (Arizona State's campus) working toward that degree."

Winkles does not begrudge the pros for their high interest in his top ball player, who has two years remaining in which he could help the Sun Devils.

"When an athlete has an opportunity to sign a big contract, and has a definite future in baseball, I say more power to him. That's the case with Rick."

SOME REMAIN SKEPTICAL—

Baseball's Free Agent Draft Scheduled Today

New York (P) — Baseball's hotly debated free agent draft of high school, college and sandlot players gets under way this morning with the Kansas City Athletics expected to pick Rick Monday, a sophomore at Arizona State University.

Although the draft is designed to eliminate competitive bidding for inexperienced, untried youngsters, Kansas City club owner Charles O. Finley is prepared to shell out in the neighborhood of $100,000 for the 19-year-old slugger.

This is presumably the same $100,000 he received from the Houston Astros last week for first baseman Jim Gentile.

Monday is not the only one expected to receive a sizeable bonus among the eligibles in this first of three annual meetings. Among the more coveted of the collegians are Bill Guerrant of Western Michigan, John Fouse of Arizona, Fred Mazurek of Pittsburgh, Terry Craven of San Fernando State, Steve McCreey of Kansas, Adrian Mohr of Colorado and Bob Robben of Missouri.

Others almost sure to be picked in the early rounds include Eddie Southard of Arizona, Joe Hague and Bob Weis of Texas, Bruce Aitken of Florida Southern, Walt Manuel of Lafayette, Dave Pfleaster of Union, Tenn., Doyle Lyman of LaVerne, Calif., and Alex Pero of Grambling.

Our attorneys have assured us the rule is let's find out. Baseball shouldn't run scared."

Final details of the mechanics of the draft were being worked out among Commissioners Ford Frick and the 20 club owners Monday night.

Astleford Seeks U.S. Open Berth In Colorado

Lincoln Star Special

Aurora, Colo.—Twelve golfers from an eight-state area will tee-off Tuesday in the Professional Golfer's Association sectional qualifying tournament for the National Open.

The top two finishers in this section will go to Bellerive Country Club in St. Louis, June 17-20, for the National Tournament.

The 36-hole tournament will be played over the confined Fitzsimmons Golf Association course in this east Denver suburb. It is one of 13 sites for sectional qualifying.

Bob Guin, local pro, said the course will play 6,900 yards, with a par of 71. He said there is trouble in both sides of the narrow three-lined fairways and the rough is high.

Golfers will tee-off at 8:10 a.m. for the first 18 holes and at 12:30 will complete the 36-hole round.

Golfers are entered from Nebraska, Colorado, South Dakota, Wyoming, Arizona, Texas, Montana, and New Mexico.

Bob Astleford of Miracle Hills in Omaha, five-time Nebraska state Amateur champion, last year gained the National Open but missed the cutoff by three strokes.

Astleford said, "I purposefully came out here Saturday to acclimate myself and my golf to this mile-high altitude. I managed a 72 over this course Sunday. It's a tight course."

Astleford has won the Nebraska crown the last three years and also in 1955 and 1959.

He said "A little experience is going to pay off on this course. You're going to have to use your head. You just can't beat the ball around."

He compared the Fitzsimmons course to the Lincoln Country Club layout.

He is one of two amateurs in the 12-player field. William Carey Jr. of Denver Country Club is the other amateur.

ST. LOUIS VICTORIOUS, 2-1

Three Others Take Victories

... IN CWS PLAY

By HAL BROWN

Omaha—John Marcum, a cool, methodical lefthander, pitched St. Louis into the winner's bracket of the College World Series with a 2-1 victory over Connecticut at Rosenblatt Stadium here Monday night.

The Billikens, District 5 representatives who defeated Big Eight champion Missouri to gain a series berth, joined Ohio State, Washington State and Arizona State in picking up opening round victories.

Speedy Bob Fry set a stolen base record in leading Washington State to a 12-5 win over Texas, Ohio State defeated Florida State, 2-1, and Arizona State hammered Lafayette, 14-1.

Marcum struck out 14, just two short of a CWS record, in pitching out of one jam after another Monday night in a game played before 4,354 fans who sat through rain from the second inning.

The 5-9 southpaw pitched and didn't allow a base hit until Jim Penders led off the sixth with a bunt single that Marcum fielded, but then slipped on the wet grass when he attempted to make the throw.

The eastern school scored its only run without benefit of a base hit in the third on a walk and two errors. Marcum had runners on base in five of the last six innings, but was stingy letting them advance.

Gerald Boehmer's home run over the left field fence in the sixth was the winning run and stamped Connecticut pitcher Steve Gulyas with only his second loss in seven decisions.

Boehmer's home run broke up a 1-1 game that was deadlocked by St. Louis in the fourth on a double and stolen base by Jim Dix and a ground out by Tom Daly that scored Dix.

St. Louis will meet Arizona State in the 8:30 game Tuesday night, and Connecticut goes against Lafayette at 2 p.m. with the loser being eliminated.

Fry set a single game record and tied the mark for an entire series with four stolen bases in the Washington State win. The 5-165-pound center fielder also slammed a home run over the left field fence at the 355-foot mark.

Fry's stolen base mark came on two steals of second, one of third and one of home.

The marathon game that lasted more than three hours developed into a slugfest early with the Cougars outmuscling the Longhorns.

In addition to Fry's stolen base binge and his home run, the western team got plenty of power from catcher John Olerud with a double and triple, Hal Brustad with a double and Duane Rossmann with a double.

The daring Cougars stole seven bases and came up with three double plays that helped winning lefthander Mike Avey pick up his sixth win against no losses.

Texas got home runs from reserve catcher Jim Schesekuk and centerfielder Ron Bandy. The three home runs in the game surpassed the total for last year's series by two.

Arizona State smashed 16 hits in rolling to its easy victory over its eastern foe and became the first college team in history to win 50 games in one season.

The Sun Devils got superb pitching from starter John Pavlik, who pitched hitless ball for 6 1/3 innings before Dan Kristoff beat out the shortstop.

Two more infield singles followed to produce the lone run off Pavlik, who won his 11th game without a loss this season.

Our attorneys have assured us the rule is let's find out. Baseball shouldn't run scared."

Final details of the mechanics of the draft were being worked out among Commissioners Ford Frick and the 20 club owners Monday night.

Fund Drive Begins For Churchill Memorial Near Clearwater

A fund drive to provide construction of a $100,000 concrete memorial to the late Sir Winston Churchill began here Monday with a contribution from Bellevue citizens and the blessing of Governor Morrison.

The project, instigated by the tiny Sandhills town of Clearwater, envisions the construction of a $100,000 concrete memorial to the late Sir Winston Churchill Freedom Foundation, Inc. and the establishment of a $150,000 fund to support youth exchange programs.

Although the fund drive Aug 1 doesn't officially begin until July 16 the first contributions were accepted here by George Wrenholt, president of the Churchill Freedom Foundation, Inc.

The governor called the project "one of the most significant single things in the history of Nebraska." He pointed to it as "proof there is no reason why the small community needs to decay and lose population."

The memorial site is planned on a 120-acre tract just south of Clearwater, 420 residents, along Clearwater Creek.

The concrete memorial, to include a statue of Sir Winston by the English sculptor Franta Belsky, will include an amphitheater for gatherings of exchange students and a room which will hold some of the late prime minister's personal treasures.

It is to be built on a high sand dune overlooking miles of untouched Sandhill country.

Meeting Place

It is hoped that the memorial will include a meeting place for exchange students where they can discuss other countries, cultures and politics.

Clearwater two years ago established the Winston Churchill Home and made Sir Winston an honorary citizen.

The Nebraska Legislature later followed suit and made him an honorary Nebraskan. Wrenholt said ideally that one dollar would be donated by each resident of Nebraska for the project.

He also noted that Clearwater, in years to come, hopes to take on a completely English atmosphere through landscaping and construction.

The concrete memorial will rise 60 feet and will be visible from U.S. Highway 275. Wrenholt said.

More constitutional amendment bills remain pending.

The new passed bill, LB613, was introduced by Sens. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln, Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud, Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln and Eugene Mahoney of Omaha.

The proposed amendment says a governor may serve no more than two consecutive terms, although he can run again after a four-year interval.

Gov. Frank Morrison, currently serving his third two-year term, would not, however, be prevented from seeking another term if he wanted.

The hearing will begin at 9:00 a.m. in the East Senate Chamber in the State Capitol.

The more stringent standards would require marginal high schools to either improve their curriculum offerings, libraries and other facilities and hire more qualified teachers or lose state approval.

A non-approved high school district loses its exemption from the free high school tuition levy, usually 7 to 10 mills, and its students are free to attend neighboring approved high schools. Thus non-approved high schools in almost all cases are forced to close down.

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, Revenue Committee chairman, told the Legislature that the bill must be passed by July 1 or federal funds for the various public assistance programs in Nebraska will be jeopardized.

Lawmakers approved 44-0 Monday to introduce the 909th bill of the current session.

Introduced by the Revenue Committee, LB909 provides that personal income realized from the federal government's War on Poverty program shall not be considered when deciding whether families qualify for various welfare programs.

Fund Drive Begins For Churchill Memorial Near Clearwater

Wrenholt said ideally that one dollar would be donated by each resident of Nebraska for the project.

He also noted that Clearwater, in years to come, hopes to take on a completely English atmosphere through landscaping and construction.

The concrete memorial will rise 60 feet and will be visible from U.S. Highway 275, Wrenholt said.

More constitutional amendments bills remain pending.

The new passed bill, LB613, was introduced by Sens. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln, Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud, Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln and Eugene Mahoney of Omaha.

The proposed amendment says a governor may serve no more than two consecutive terms, although he can run again after a four-year interval.

Gov. Frank Morrison, currently serving his third two-year term, would not, however, be prevented from seeking another term if he wanted.

Aid Qualifications

Bill Is Introduced

The State Board of Education will hold a public hearing

Tuesday to receive responses to its move to increase the minimum requirements for state approval of public and private high schools.

The board already has given tentative approval to new standards designed to improve the secondary education of pupils in Nebraska's smaller, poorer districts.

The hearing will begin at 9:00 a.m. in the East Senate

Chamber in the State Capitol.

The more stringent standards would require marginal high schools to either improve their curriculum offerings, libraries and other facilities and hire more qualified teachers or lose state approval.

A non-approved high school district loses its exemption from the free high school tuition levy, usually 7 to 10 mills, and its students are free to attend neighboring approved

high schools. Thus, non-approved high schools in almost all cases are forced to close down.

Joint State Communications System On Agenda For Wednesday Meeting

Gov. Frank Morrison and Lt. Gov. Morrison said consolidation is set for Wednesday to emergency operations and to save money in the day-to-day functioning of a jointly operated state government communications system for state agencies.

The meeting, scheduled for 8 a.m. at the Nebraska Center, follows a study by a 14-member committee on the possibility of merging communication facilities of numerous state departments.

Six state agencies now operate their own communication networks, and others are contemplating such facilities.

Safety Patrol, National Guard, Legislature, Educational Television Commission and Power Review Board.

Each department will report on its communication needs and costs of construction, present facilities, and an evaluation of the merged communications concept for the future.

Committee Study

A special 14-member inter-agency committee, headed by Col. Don Penterman, deputy adjutant general, has been studying the feasibility of the system, possibly centered around the statewide ETV network now under construction.

The Departments of Roads, Aeronautics, and the Military, Game Commission, Safety Patrol and ETV now operate separate networks.

Ley Hopeful Robbed Bank Won't Close

State Banking Director Henry Ley said Monday he is hopeful the family-owned Farmers State Bank at Big Springs will continue to operate.

"It's been a real solid bank for that area," said the banking director before leaving for the southwestern Nebraska town to attend funeral services for the three persons killed in Friday's robbery.

He said the bank probably will re-open within two or three days.

He said the bank's correspondent institutions, the First National Bank of Omaha and the First National Bank and Trust Co. of Lincoln will send personnel to Big Springs to assist when the bank opens its doors again.

Bank President Andreas Kjeldgaard, Assistant Cashier G. L. Hendrickson and Bookkeeper Mrs. Lois Hothan were killed in the robbery. Another assistant cashier, Frank Kjeldgaard, was wounded.

"Our department considers this terrible tragedy worse than Valentine," said Ley, referring to multi-million dollar manipulations at Valentine for which banker Richard Davenport is serving a prison term.

Resz has taught in the Lincoln school district for seven years.

Joint State Communications System On Agenda For Wednesday Meeting

Gov. Frank Morrison announced Monday that a meeting is set for Wednesday to discuss the feasibility of establishing a jointly operated communications system for state agencies.

The meeting, scheduled for 8 a.m. at the Nebraska Center, follows a study by a 14-member committee on the possibility of merging communication facilities of numerous state departments.

Six state agencies now operate their own communication networks, and others are contemplating such facilities.

Social Agency Supervisors Open Week-Long Workshop

Supervisors of social workers in Missouri Valley social agencies convened here Monday for a week-long workshop at the Nebraska Center to provide practical training to people in child welfare work.

The third Missouri Valley Welfare Institute, including supervisors from Nebraska, North and South Dakota and Wyoming, is being sponsored by the graduate school of social work at the University of Nebraska with a grant from the U.S. Children's Bureau.

Mrs. Beulah Compton, associate professor of sociology at the University of Minnesota, is teaching her second Welfare Institute here and will instruct the final session next week, also for supervisors. She previously directed the meetings on protective services.

Mrs. Compton explained that the Welfare Institute would concentrate on the purpose and goals of supervision, teaching methods, content of material taught, and principles of evaluation.

Twenty social agency supervisors are attending the workshop, including Nebraskans Arthur R. McCorkle, casework supervisor of Lincoln Family Service Association; Miss Sylvia Antholz, case supervisor of Lincoln Child Guidance Center; Mrs. Jean McGroigan, director of social service of Immanuel Deaconess Institute in Omaha.

Miss Charlotte Goldsmith, adoption supervisor of Lutheran Family Service Society in Omaha; Mrs. Zetta Trester, case supervisor of Douglas County Division of Public Welfare, and Mrs. Elizabeth Hallsted, case worker supervisor of Scotts Bluff County Division of Public Welfare at Gering.

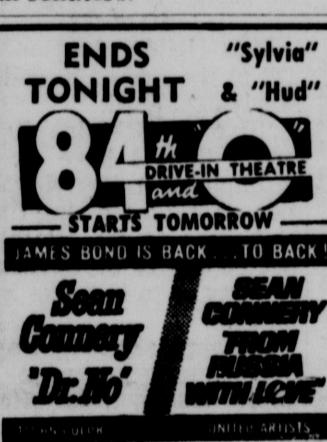

16 Bills Could Die Automatically If No Action Taken

Omaha Sen. George Syas reported Monday that 16 bills currently resting in committee are in danger of being automatically killed as of next Friday unless committee action is taken on them.

A motion adopted by the Legislature calls for indefinite postponement of all bills calling for an expenditure of $20,000 or more which remain in committee after June 11.

An analysis of 45 committee held bills as of late last week showed 16 of them to involve expenditures in excess of $20,000.

A report covering the analysis was distributed by Syas to all senators.

Each department will report on its communication needs and costs of construction, present facilities, and an evaluation of the merged communications concept for the future.

A special 14-member inter-agency committee, headed by Col. Don Penterman, deputy adjutant general, has been studying the feasibility of the system, possibly centered around the statewide ETV network now under construction.

LEY HOPEFUL Robbed Bank Won't Close

State Banking Director Henry Ley said Monday he is hopeful the family-owned Farmers State Bank at Big Springs will continue to operate.

"It's been a real solid bank for that area," said the banking director before leaving for the southwestern Nebraska town to attend funeral services for the three persons killed in Friday's robbery.

He said the bank probably will re-open within two or three days.

He said the bank's correspondent institutions, the First National Bank of Omaha and the First National Bank and Trust Co. of Lincoln will send personnel to Big Springs to assist when the bank opens its doors again.

Bank President Andreas Kjeldgaard, Assistant Cashier Glen A. S. Hendrickson and Bookkeeper Mrs. Lois Hothan were killed in the robbery. Another assistant cashier, Frank Kjeldgaard, was wounded.

"Our department considers this terrible tragedy worse than Valentine," said Ley, referring to multi-million dollar manipulations at Valentine for which banker Richard Davenport is serving a prison term.

When the 47 newsmen from across the nation toured this west Alabama city, a racial battleground, about 200 Negroes stood on the front steps of Browns Chapel A.M.E. Church and sang as tour buses passed. The church is headquarters for the civil rights drive.

About 40 demonstrators, most of them Negro teenagers and children, entered Valley Creek Park, a city-owned facility, after the editors had arrived there for a barbecue lunch. The demonstrators carried crude signs calling for jobs and equality.

Halted a few hundred yards from the barbecue tables, the Negroes began picketing across the roadway and singing. A spokesman, Gerald Turley, debated with Wilson Baker, the city's public safety director.

"This barbecue is by invitation only. It is a private party," Baker told the group.

"This tour was supposed to show the real Alabama," replied Turley. "Why don't they come over and see how we live?"

Gov. George Wallace invited the newsmen to visit Alabama to find out for themselves whether news stories about racial developments have been distorted.

Even before they reached Selma, the touring newsmen encountered signs of civil rights activity. They paused briefly at the spot along U.S. 80 where a white Detroit civil rights volunteer, Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, was slain the night of March 25 following the march from Selma to Montgomery.

Vocational School Bill Move Set

A move was under way Monday in the Education Committee to bring together the concepts of state and regional trade schools.

Sen. Ross H. Rasmussen of Hooper, committee chairman, said attempts to "correlate" two bills already approved by the group was an effort to head off a "stalemate" that could result in no vocational-technical schools being built in Nebraska.

The bills already approved by the committee are LB581, a permissive measure to allow local areas to establish vocational schools; and LB482, calling for a state-operated and financed vocational-technical school system.

The area bill already has been reported to the floor where it awaits initial debate.

But LB482, embracing the state-operated concept, has been held by the committee "pending further study," Rasmussen said.

He said two committee members — Sens. Lester Harsh of Bartley and H. C. Crandall of Curtis — have been appointed to work over LB482 to "provide common philosophy and direction."

Rasmussen explained his concern over the "conflict" in the two bills:

"If the Legislature should enact both into law, we'd be saying on the one hand that in order for you to have a school you must have local initiative and local financing.

"With the other hand we'd be saying that should you be able to exert enough pressure in the Legislature the state will give you one."

Members of the committee feel that the average community would feel they might get one free, and that this would discourage local initiative for the establishment of local technical schools.

"As a result, Nebraska would continue to be stalemated."

2 Redistrict Plans Drawn In Unicameral

The Legislature's Committee on Committees Monday reported receipt of its first two offered plans for reapportioning the Unicameral.

One came from Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance. It creates a 50-member Legislature from districts of close-to-equal population, achieved by crossing county lines.

The second plan, drawn without crossing county lines, would create 47 districts. Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine, chairman of the Committee on Committees, put the plan together to show what could be done without crossing county lines.

The committee at an executive session Monday reported it will receive reapportionment proposals from individual senators through next Friday, then hold an executive session next Monday afternoon.

The committee has been directed to sift through the offered plans and come up with a recommendation.

Under the Gerdes proposal, county lines would be crossed in 11 counties — Scotts Bluff, Hall, Wayne, Stanton, Gage, Dodge, Cass, Otoe, Sarpy, Custer and Harlan.

The largest district from a standpoint of population would have 29,638 under the 1960 census. The smallest would have 26,816, making for a variance extreme of about 10%.

Vocational School Bill Move Set

A move was under way Monday in the Education Committee to bring together the concepts of state and regional trade schools.

Sen. Ross H. Rasmussen of Hooper, committee chairman, said attempts to "correlate" two bills already approved by the group was an effort to head off a "stalemate" that could result in no vocational-technical schools being built in Nebraska.

The bills already approved by the committee are LB581, a permissive measure to allow local areas to establish vocational schools; and LB482, calling for a state-operated and financed vocational-technical school system.

The area bill already has been reported to the floor where it awaits initial debate.

But LB482, embracing the state-operated concept, has been held by the committee "pending further study," Rasmussen said.

He said two committee members — Sens. Lester Harsh of Bartley and H. C. Crandall of Curtis — have been appointed to work over LB482 to "provide common philosophy and direction."

Rasmussen explained his concern over the "conflict" in the two bills:

"If the Legislature should enact both into law, we'd be saying on the one hand that in order for you to have a school you must have local initiative and local financing.

"With the other hand we'd be saying that should you be able to exert enough pressure in the Legislature the state will give you one."

Members of the committee feel that the average community would feel they might get one free, and that this would discourage local initiative for the establishment of local technical schools.

"As a result, Nebraska would continue to be stalemated."

2 Redistrict Plans Drawn In Unicameral

The Legislature's Committee on Committees Monday reported receipt of its first two offered plans for reapportioning the Unicameral.

One came from Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance. It creates a 50-member Legislature from districts of close-to-equal population, achieved by crossing county lines.

The second plan, drawn without crossing county lines, would create 47 districts. Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine, chairman of the Committee on Committees, put the plan together to show what could be done without crossing county lines.

The committee at an executive session Monday reported it will receive reapportionment proposals from individual senators through next Friday, then hold an executive session next Monday afternoon.

The committee has been directed to sift through the offered plans and come up with a recommendation.

Under the Gerdes proposal, county lines would be crossed in 11 counties — Scotts Bluff, Hall, Wayne, Stanton, Gage, Dodge, Cass, Otoe, Sarpy, Custer and Harlan.

The largest district from a standpoint of population, would have 29,638 under the 1960 census. The smallest would have 26,816, making for a variance extreme of about 10%.
